Management Development Program

The North Orange County Community College District (NOCCCD) values its employees and is committed to providing opportunities for professional growth, advancement, and leadership development. Well-trained managers provide leadership, stability, and motivation for their direct reports and the entire management team. Those that are good at their job are frequently promoted to supervisory or management positions, but a higher-level skill set is often necessary to become an effective manager.

To support our managers, District Professional Development, in collaboration with the District Management Association, is offering a Management Development Program. The program is designed to enhance the critical skills necessary to be effective manager and provides tools and best practices to smoothly navigate the roadblocks and oversee their respective departments more efficiently.

PROGRAM GOALS

The Management Development Program has the following goals:

- To provide managers with the skill set necessary to be effective leaders.
- To promote access to, and dialogue with, leaders and other managers throughout the District.
- To learn District specific practices and challenges, and how to address them.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Management Development Program is designed to support managers in their day-to-day responsibilities. It focuses on real applications, emphasizing the practical skills and concepts managers need to be more effective in their jobs. The participants will engage in scenario-based discussions with peers and learn best practices from community college leaders. The sessions are interactive to immerse participants in the learning experience.

The Program aligns with competencies outlined by the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) for mid-managers. It encompasses feedback from managers across the District and is tailored to address NOCCCD's needs.

The Program requires completion of nine in-class or live-online sessions and can be completed in one year. Any missed sessions can be completed with the following cohort.

Participants will meet once a month for three hours from January to November (with breaks in May and August). Outside coursework may be required to support the varying needs and experience levels of the participants. Prior to each session, readings and resources will be provided for those who are new and may benefit from some background information. Supplemental materials will be provided for those who are seasoned and desire more in-depth knowledge of the subject matter. Approximately 5-6 hours per month outside of the in-class sessions may be required for the program-related work.

The Program will conclude with a graduation ceremony. A certificate of completion will be earned after completing all required elements.
